I Funny: A Middle School Story

by James Patterson and Chris Grabenstein

Booktalk!

Jamie Grimm is a real stand-up comedian ... even though he can't, well, stand. He's been in a wheelchair ever since a car accident years ago. But to Jamie, even that makes for great joke material. After all, he's one to roll with the punches – even if the punches are coming from his new adoptive brother, Stevie.

Never one to give up, Jamie enters the Planet's Funniest Kid Contest and dreams of making it big. Unfortunately, there's nothing funny about his serious stage fright. Does anyone know the Heimlich? Because Jamie's about to choke.

Best for ages 8–12
