Booktalk!

What would you do with your snowman if he never had to melt away? That's what one little boy wonders.

They could go on so many adventures! They could fly a kite together in the sweet spring breeze, watch fireworks shooting across the hot summer sky, or dress up to go trick-or-treating on a chilly autumn evening.

This story's imaginative narrator can't help but imagine what he would do with his frosty friend if the fun never ended. With beautiful illustrations and a great overview of the seasons, this is one book you'll pull out season after season!

Best for ages 4–7
